VALEDICTORY.

The proprietorship of The Progress has changed, the late proprietor having sold out his interest to Mr. S. T. Scott, who has been connected with The Progress for the last eighteen months. The late proprietor while thanking those who stood by him, cannot do the same to those who have imagined that a newspaper can be run without funds, as is evidenced by the persistent refusal to pay. It is to be hoped that the new proprietor will be more liberally and honorably dealt with, otherwise they will find out the difference should the paper be removed. Some imagine that the mere fact of a newspaper being in a town is a matter of no moment, but it is—"you never miss the water till the well runs dry."

In connection with the foregoing all accounts owing, with the exception of current subscriptions, are to be paid to the undersigned, and all subscriptions for current year are to be paid to S. T. Scott.

FREDERICK BELL.

SALUTATORY.

The new proprietor of The Progress extends greeting to the public of Qu'Appelle district particularly, and to the Northwest Territories generally. It shall be our constant and earnest endeavor to make The Progress a first-class paper in every respect from the present issue onward. We shall be ever watchful to secure and put forth on the pages of the paper matter that will be instructive, interesting and useful; we shall be ever zealous in advocating all matters domestic, social, and of kindred nature, affecting, or likely to affect, the farmer, at the same time being mindful of the interests of each and sundry who, though not of the vast army of agriculturists, have taken up their abode in the fruitful and salubrious district of Qu'Appelle, a district aptly named "the garden of the Territories." The Progress henceforward will maintain a firm independent attitude in politics; yet any maladministration retarding or seriously checking the prosperity and development of the Northwest Territories will not be disregarded.

As time goes on and business improves, alterations and improvements will be made to keep the paper level with the times. In a word, it will be our constant endeavor to cause The Progress to continually assert its name to the utmost by endeavoring to make the paper a success—by deserving it, and prompt assistance from the public, both financially and otherwise.

You Don't Have to Swear Off says the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture in an editorial about No-To-Bac, the famous tobacco habit cure. "We know of many cases cured by No-To-Bac, one, a prominent St. Louis architect, smoked and chewed for twenty years; two boxes cured him so that even the smell of tobacco makes him sick."

No-To-Bac sold and guaranteed by C. E. Carthew. No more no pay. Book free. Sterling Remedy Co., 374 St. Paul St., Montreal.

wise, will go far to bring about this desirable result and to make The Qu'Appelle Progress a credit and an organ of usefulness in the important district for which it caters.

THREE CLASSES OF FARMERS.

Considered as a business, what are the causes which lead to success in farming? This is a question, the answer to which would necessarily open up so many and such varied points, that much more space than we have at command would be required to do the subject full justice; therefore we can but touch upon in a general way a few of the leading features. The most striking instances of non-success in farming are not met with amongst that class, who through a long and un-interrupted succession, have been connected with and brought up to farming from their childhood, and to them almost imperceptibly, imbued with a "liking" for farming so that intuitively, as it were, they have derived a knowledge of its practice, although, as far as the theories on which it is based are concerned, they may know marvelously little.

It may then be affirmed, as a general rule, that those farmers whose career is ultimately marked with success more or less decided, belong to two classes, essentially different in characteristics from the one just referred to. The members of the second of these classes are what is called "thoroughly well educated as farmers," looking upon their profession as demanding as careful a preliminary training and schooling as that of any other of the many professions to which the attention of what are known as the well-to-do classes is directed. If they lack the thorough grounding in practical details which the descendants of a long line of farming men have, they, on the other hand, surpass these in their knowledge of what may be called the outcome of scientific agricultural knowledge.

To these two classes of men who devote themselves systematically to farming, and who may be looked upon as those from whom success in their application to its practice may be reasonably anticipated, there remains to be added a third class with characteristics totally different from either; this class is made up of those who have been connected for the greater part of their working lives with professions or callings wholly distinct from farming, and who, having made money, have acquired a taste, or fancy they have, for farming. This taste springs from a sentimental source, in many cases from that love of country, with its life and pursuits, which seems inherent in many people; this, with nearly all of them, has formed the day-dream of the period to which we have referred, a dream which they cherished in the hope that they would some day or other see realized.

Each of these three classes has its own characteristics; the first, as we have already remarked, consists of men, having a thorough knowledge of farming practice, supplemented, as it now frequently is, by a fair scientific education. The second holds a middle place, having more of what may be called the scholastic element than the practical; while the third, as may be anticipated, from what we have said, possesses no thorough acquaintance, as a rule, either with what constitutes established practice or sound scientific knowledge, save what may have been picked up by intercourse with farmers possessed of both, or derived from the study of books treating on the subject. And yet even in this class instances of men who, while they lack nothing in the way of a strict and methodical attention to the business of their farms, are not peculiarly successful in their management, are but too frequently met with. It is, then, scarcely to be wondered at, taking everything into account, that examples of failure in farming are much more frequent in the third class than in the second, and in the second than the first, amongst the members of which instances of thorough non-success are comparatively seldom to be met with; but even amongst these they are found, if to keep up the truth of the saying that, there is no rule without an exception.

Death of Sir Leonard Tilley.

One by one the fathers of Confederation and landmarks of Canadian history are passing away. Sir Leonard Tilley, whose death occurred last Thursday in St. John, N.B., being the last to pass to his reward. The Montreal Witness, editorially, pays the following fine tribute to the memory of the deceased statesman:

"A fine figure has passed into the pantheon of Canadian history in the person of Sir Leonard Tilley, a Christian statesman whose virtues, joined to considerable ability, gave him a first class standing in the councils of his country and adorned a government in which they were not altogether in their true setting. Sir Leonard was one of the fathers of Confederation. It was he chiefly who carried New Brunswick, with none of the arbitrary brutality with which Nova Scotia was treated by Sir Charles Tupper, willingly into the larger life of the Canadian federation. It was for patriotic reasons that he, a Liberal leader, took a seat with other Liberal leaders in the first ministry of the new federation. More facile of character than Geo. Brown and Alexander Mackenzie, he adapted himself to and took the color of his new surroundings and became a supporter of Sir John Macdonald, whose career he no doubt modified for the better so long as he shared it. Like a later New Brunswick statesman, he gained his first prominence as an advocate of the temperance cause, to which he was in every act and vote at all times true. After enjoying the highest honors his country had to bestow upon him, and occupying with great dignity the chair which had before been honored by the occupancy of another stalwart Christian, Governor Wilnot, he has passed, full of years, from an earthly sphere in which he had many thousands of friends and no enemies."

Political Notes.

Dymont, Liberal, is elected for Algoma by a large majority.

The full returns from Marquette give Roche, Conservative, a majority of 75 over Ashdown.

The result of the elections for West Assiniboia is still in doubt. A recount has been demanded and the judge will decide the matter within four days.

Senator Read died at Ottawa last Monday evening, June 29. Senator Read represented the Bay of Quinte district in the Senate and was appointed in 1871.

A dispatch from Halifax reports that Kings, Prince Edward Island, has gone Conservative by 22 majority, electing McDonald. The seat has been claimed by both parties hitherto.

Frost, Liberal, is declared elected for Grenville by nine of a majority, and Fraser, Liberal, in East Lambton, by 14. There is a rumor that the official declarations in North Renfrew elects Peter White, the ex-speaker, after all, over Mackie, but this cannot be verified.

The Toronto News' correspondent at Ottawa says: Several names are already mentioned for the senatorship made vacant by the death of Senator Read. As he had an Ontario seat this vacancy, if not filled by the government, will afford an opening for Mowat, but the disposition of the administration is to fill everything in sight. The appointment made by the Conservatives can be cancelled, unless the man appointed has taken his seat. In that event he cannot be removed except for cause.

The Toronto Telegram correspondent at Ottawa says: The decision of the government not to resign until after the last day for recounts is passed has raised the question when that date is. Notice of a demand for a recount must be given within four days of the official count or the day of the declaration of the poll, in other words, and the judge must have a recount within four days of being notified, making eight

The Mammoth Shows.

The greatest tented exhibitions, and as the show bills call it: "A Modern World's Fair and Camped Wonderland," will exhibit at Qu'Appelle Station, July 3. We refer to the far-famed and justly celebrated Bond Brothers colossal shows. The performances in the great three ring circus is said to excel that of any other show on the continent. Their Hippodrome most realistic and attractive, while their menagerie of rare wild animals possesses many fine specimens not usually seen with other shows, and the performances and feats of educated horses have no counterpart and is entirely new to tented amusement patrons. Its extra ethnological features come in for no small measure of praise. Railroads grant cheap round trip excursion rates on day of exhibition as above and a vast concourse of people from the neighboring towns and country is looked for to witness these unparalleled shows. Qu'Appelle Station, July 3.

A Portage Wedding.

A very pretty wedding ceremony was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Thomas Sturdy, chief of police, Portage la Prairie, Monday evening, when Mr. James Hay, of the Portage land titles office, was wedded to Elizabeth Olive, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sturdy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Macmorine, rector of St. Mary's church, in the presence of near relatives, and a few intimate friends among whom was Miss Minnie Harris, of Winnipeg. Mr. Charles Hay, who is spending some months in British Columbia looking after some mining interests in that province, returned to be present on the occasion. After the marriage the guests sat down to a most bountiful dinner. The presents were numerous and handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Hay arrived in the city Monday evening, and are guests at the Clarendon.—Free Press.

Farmers' Excursions.

Toronto, June 30.—The Canadian Pacific to-day ran the first of a series of proposed excursions to the Northwest. The train included two carloads of Ontario farmers with sixty day tickets. Next week thirty farmers from Michigan will visit Manitoba under the auspices of the provincial government.

Sudden Death.

Mr. James Ross, M.L.A., Moose Jaw district, who has been in town for a few days, received a telegram yesterday morning announcing the death of his brother at their ranch, on Yellow Grass Marsh.

A majority of delegates to the Chicago convention are pledged for silver.

Feeding Oil Meal.

Twenty years ago there was very little oil meal used on the farms of this country, says the United States National Stockman. A few advanced feeders and breeders of livestock had learned its value in finishing animals for the block or for the show ring, and it was used in a limited way by dairymen, but the bulk of the product of our oil mills was exported, British farmers taking large quantities of it. The general advancement in knowledge of feeding during recent years has brought about a wonderful change. Feeding oil meal is now almost as common as feeding bran, and those whose grain feed is of necessity principally corn have found it almost indispensable in providing a properly balanced ration. Monorial value is another point in its favor, especially in the eastern states. Prices this year have been about the lowest on record, in sympathy with other feed-stuffs, and there has been a very large consumption. It is safe to say that the experience of this year will cause much more to be used hereafter, but the increase would be greater if none but the old process meal had been used. We have heard several complaints from those who have been using new process meal—which is decidedly inferior—principally on account of the chemicals used in extracting the oil.

What Exasperated Him.

The agent for a handsomely illustrated book to be sold on long time credit—a feast to the intellect and an adornment to any library—leaned against the side of the house, caught his breath, clinched his fist and looked skyward. "What's the matter?" asked the policeman. "I've met the meanest man," he answered. "I've heard of him and I've read about him in the papers, but I never expected to meet him face to face." "Where is he?" "Up in that office building." "How do you know he's the meanest man?" "By the way he acted. I showed him this work of art, lectured on it for half an hour, showed the engravings, and when I hinted that it would be a good thing to order, what do you think he said?" "I don't know."

"He said he never bought books. He didn't have to. He just waited for some fool agent to come along and tell him all that was in 'em, and turn over the leaves while he looked at the pictures."—Washington Star.

To Subscribers.

Those in arrears for the current year will confer a favor by settling with the undersigned as early as possible. Subscribers who have paid will receive The Progress as usual. All in arrears over the current year will be stricken off the list if not renewed within reasonable time. Address, S. T. SCOTT, Editor and Proprietor.

Local and General

The glowing ruby should adorn
Those who in warm July are born;
Then will they be exempt and free
From love's doubts and anxiety.

—Haying in many sloughs will necessarily be late this year.

—Miss E. McMichael of Spencer, is visiting friends in town.

—Mr. E. H. Robinson of Indian Head, was in town Tuesday evening.

—Mrs. Rev. W. C. Bunt is able to be about again after a week's illness.

—Mr. J. Lindsay, chief travelling agent of the Massey-Harris Co., is in town.

—The biggest and best shows on earth will be at Qu'Appelle Station on July 3.

—Mrs. John Grieve and her sister, Miss McFarlane, left for Winnipeg, last evening.

—Mr. Wm. Wilson and members of his family spent yesterday picnicking at Strawberry Lake.

—A picnic party, consisting of Messrs. Harvey, Parker and others, spent Wednesday at Deep Lake.

—Mr. Harry Bray, who has been suffering from a severe cold is again able to attend to his duties.

—We are pleased to state that a change for the better has taken place in the condition of Mr. W. Mack.

—Miss Gibson, youth's popular instructor at McLean Station, is spending her vacation in town at the home of her parents.

—Eastern papers pronounce the Bond Brothers' shows the best ever organized. The big shows will be at Qu'Appelle Station, July 3.

—The heat for the past few days has been exceedingly oppressive; the threatened storm yesterday, however, modified it considerably.

—Mr. F. Chilcott, a very popular Winnipeg commercial traveller, after an absence of three or four years, paid his Qu'Appelle friends a visit this week.

—Mr. Geo. Gibson, has moved to town from Indian Head, to assume the management of Messrs. Brine & Fetherstonhaugh's livery business at this point.

—Miss Lou and Mary Talbot, arrived yesterday morning from Winnipeg, to spend their holidays. They are stopping with their sister, Mrs. S. H. Caswell.

—A severe hailstorm on Friday night played havoc with the crops of A. J. Elve and J. Fessant. The same storm destroyed many of the market gardens round Winnipeg.

—Mr. J. Dill, M.L.A., Wolsley, and Mr. W. Sutherland, M.L.A., Fort Qu'Appelle, were in town on Tuesday, watching the working of the new grader and roadmaker.

—The weather is all that could be desired for bringing the grain to maturity. We are informed on good authority that the wheat will be all headed out in a week or ten days.

—Prof. Fletcher, etomologist and botanist at the experimental farm, Ottawa, arrived in Winnipeg last week. He will address meetings throughout the country on noxious weeds.

—We were pleased to see Mr. F. R. Blakeney able to attend the DeMoss Family concert on Tuesday evening, and hope soon to see him fully restored to health and strength.

—Bond Brothers' show is an innovation in arena and zoological displays. The entire exhibition is a succession of novelties and original features, and can be enjoyed at Qu'Appelle Station on July 3.

—Mr. Gus Bersea has a curiosity in the shape of a deformed pig. The pig, instead of having its hind legs in their orthodox position, has reversed matters and has one hind leg in front. The pig is four weeks old and thriving, though lame.

—The prize list of the Winnipeg Industrial exhibition is out, and anyone wishing to see a copy can do so by calling at this office. The exhibition takes place July 20 to 25, and promises to surpass previous exhibitions. A free copy can be obtained by applying to F. W. Heubach, manager, box 1348, Winnipeg.

—We have received a sample copy of Liberty, a highly interesting monthly magazine emanating from Brook Avenue, Toronto. The publication consists of twenty-four well printed pages of such matter that will cause it to be read by a large number of people. An excellent likeness of our Gracious Queen embellishes the front page.

—The performances of Bond Brothers' sagacious elephants is said to be truly wonderful, and can be seen at Qu'Appelle Station on July 3.

—The DeMoss Family Lyric Bards gave a concert Tuesday evening in the Methodist church, and it is safe to say that those who did not attend missed a rare musical treat.

—Mr. Chas. McDougall left here Monday for Grenfell with a band of fine general purpose horses; from Grenfell, Mr. McDougall expects to go north to Lake Dauphin district.

—Bonds' circus, which purposes performing in Qu'Appelle, on July 3, as will be seen in another column, comes with an excellent reputation. There are over 100 persons and a capital menagerie. The usual following of crooks and sharpers are also noticeable by their absence.

—Messrs. May & Boyd entered into possession of the Commercial hotel, Indian Head, yesterday, Mr. A. Davidson retiring. We congratulate the Indian Head public on the acquisition of Mr. May, and Qu'Appelleites will unite in wishing him and his partner every success in their new venture.

—The funeral of Joseph Donald Turner, who died from the effects of a fall from his horse, last week, at Fort Qu'Appelle, took place Monday and was largely attended by friends and acquaintances. The deceased leaves a wife and family who have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

—Whenever you make a statement in an advertisement, make it so plainly and pointedly that there can be no possible question as to what it means. It is a good deal better to make it too plain than not plain enough. If your stupidest reader understands exactly what you are driving at, there is no chance that the brightest one will not.—C. A. Bates.

—We have received Bulletin 49, issued by the department of agriculture and immigration, Winnipeg, being a report on crops, live stock, etc., in Manitoba. The information contained in the bulletin as to the average condition of the crops, live stock, etc., the rainfall and other climatic conditions, is summarized from the returns received from about 350 of the regular correspondents of the department, under date of June 1.

—It is often the case that a business man expects too much from advertising, and then condemns it if he does not fully realize his expectations. Advertising is only an element in building up and holding a successful business. It cannot bear the burden alone. There must be coupled with it the same degree of enterprise in every other element of business success. Because this is not done a vast amount of money is wasted in the advertising end of the business and advertising gets the blame.—Ex.

—J. A. Ruddick, of the dairy commissioner's staff, Ottawa, arrived from the east yesterday, and is registered at the Leland. He goes west to-day to inspect the government dairy stations at Moose Jaw and Indian Head. After that he will hold travelling dairy meetings at Maple Creek, July 3 and 4; Lethbridge, July 7; Pincher Creek, July 10 and 11, and Fort Macleod, July 14. About August 1 he will proceed to British Columbia and visit different parts of the country with the travelling dairy.—Tribune.

—Our citizens and others have been deeply interested this week in the testing of the Fort Wayne Reversible Road Machine, manufactured by the Fleming Manufacturing Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., U.S. Mr. P. C. Elsey, the company's expert, was in charge and everybody was highly pleased with the way in which the machine did its work. The work consisted of road making in the virgin prairie sod, without plowing, street work, etc., all of which was handled easily with four or six horses. Messrs. Ross, Dill and Sutherland, members of the Legislative Assembly, witnessed the work on Tuesday and all agree that it is a labor-saving, therefore a money-saving implement. The machine, we understand, has been purchased by the Legislature for this district. Maw & Co. and Massey-Harris Co., limited, are the agents for Manitoba and the Northwest.

—Every succeeding season the prairie is noteworthy for its floral beauty, but in this present year of grace, the profusion and robust habit of the flowers is unusually remarkable.

—There is any amount of good "feed" on the prairie just now, with the pleasant prospect of its continuing in abundance all through the summer; and oh! boon of boons, there is plenty of water.

—The upland grass, knee-deep in many places, notably a few miles south of town, waving in the breeze in luxuriant abundance, resembling to some extent the rich lush meadows of the Old Country.

—Dr. Creamer, our popular veterinary surgeon, has a number of equine patients on hand, among others Rainbow, the promising young running horse. He expects to pull all through safely.

—Work on the Dauphin road, says the Free Press, has been much delayed on account of the wet state of the ground. The dry days are few and far between and the drying up process is consequently slow.

—The results of the recent campaign must have greatly demoralized our coten., the Whitewood Herald, as in its issue of the 25th ult., it produces a cut of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, underneath which are the lines, "Sir Charles Tupper, member elect for Picton." The Herald certainly must be badly muddled, or mixed in its politics or drinks.

—The R. T. of T. held an ice cream social last Friday evening, when a very pleasant time was spent. A short musical programme, interspersed with recitations, speeches, etc., was gone through, the choir rendering several excellent selections, and the Revs. Strachan and Ritchie contributing very considerably to the general enjoyment by their pointed and wital witty speeches.

—It is a good sign when the extent of continuously cultivated garden ground increases, as is the case with us at Qu'Appelle, year after year round about a town, and cabbage and cauliflower are to be seen by the hundred—in some instances by the thousand—where formerly these highly desirable and wholesome vegetables were either conspicuous by their absence or appeared in small numbers.

—The following appeared in the "Farmers' Advocate" June 5, and will be interesting to growers of Alfalfa and others contemplating its cultivation. "We have grown Alfalfa for a number of years; this year are using it as a soiling crop for milch cows, and as they get very little else we have a good chance to tell if it does flavor the milk or butter. We could never yet detect any, but, on the contrary, think it improves the flavor." The above is an extract from a letter from T. C. Elford, Huron Co., in answer to an enquiry in the Farmer's Advocate in regard to Alfalfa and milch cows.

—Mr. E. A. Burbank, of Winnipeg, who assisted Dr. J. M. Douglas, the Independent candidate in Eastern Assiniboia, has been spending a few days here and at Fort Qu'Appelle in search of some much needed rest and recreation after the fatigue of the campaign. Mr. Burbank is a Conservative in politics and was the founder and proprietor of the Carman Standard. In the late contest Mr. Burbank had no quarrel with the Conservative party or its principles, and so announced from every platform, but took the position that the Conservative party should not commit itself and its glorious record to the late maladministration at Ottawa.

—Messrs. Thring, Bull, White and Stoddard are the latest addition to our community. These young gentlemen have decided to give our Northwest a trial, and if all turns out well will locate permanently. The first named three have started in already to study the secrets of success in mixed farming, and Mr. Stoddard will probably go out to one of the stock ranches beyond Fort Qu'Appelle. He had previously held a position in Fairbank's stock-yards, Chicago, for several years, and was on a visit to his home in England where he met with and decided to accompany his companions who were setting out for the Northwest, the land where cattle and grain are raised. Mr. Stoddard says that Chicago, as well as other large cities, is glutted with applicants for work and that it is hard to secure a position of any kind.

—Fred W. Byatt, of Buffalo, was found shot in the head in Queen's park, Stratford—he may recover.

—The River, California, Indians are on the warpath.

—Chickney Chirpings.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mrs. Henry Dixon has been dangerously ill, but she now convalesces.

As Henry Minnerman was driving his bull out to the place where he was going to tether it, it turned on the horse he was riding and succeeded in making it fall over, carrying his master along with it. The horse, however, escaped without injury, but Mr. Minnerman had his knee cap dislodged, besides fracturing the bone.

Mr. Chas. Moore was attracted to the spot by his calls for help, and he, with the help of Messrs. Garratt, Chipperfield and Snow succeeded in conveying him to Samuel Chipperfield's residence, where he had the bone set, and skilfully bandaged. He is now mending, but it is expected it will be a considerable time before it quite heals.

Mrs. William Henry Garratt, from Grenfell, is stopping at the residence of Mr. Samuel Chipperfield.

The Entertainment committee, consisting of Messadmes Snow and Chipperfield, and Mr. Gardiner, have purchased eleven chairs and seven seats, each eight feet long, for use at Sunday services, or other meetings.

On the 28th ult., our annual open-air or field meeting was held in a bluff near the schoolhouse. There were 164 persons in attendance, a number exceeded only once before, at which time we had 168. Messrs. Sharpe, Loverige, Amy, Chipperfield and Anderson each gave a suitable address and a number of persons of both sexes gave their experience in Christian life. Mr. John Teece led the meeting which was held from 10.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. respectively. We have had these meetings once a year for the last eight or nine years, and we believe that they do good.

The school holidays, which last for two weeks, commenced on the 1st inst.

We were visited by a Jewish traveller last week.

On Saturday last a football match was played between Pleasant Forks and Maple Green. Messrs. Coulthard and Gardiner, two of our promising young bachelors, played in the Maple Green team. After playing for two and a half hours, the score was one goal each.

Lorlie Lingsings.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

After the battle and the killed and wounded taken care of, we will devote attention to our former duties of providing for our immediate wants by attending to our ordinary vocations.

We are now receiving very warm weather, just the kind that is wanted to bring on the crops. A very large crop of hay to cut this year.

W. D. Cowan, surgeon-dentist, of Regina, was out here this week attending to his professional duties.

In your last week's correspondence from Lorlie there were two mistakes; first, Mr. Bennet did not preach his farewell sermon as stated, but did do so last Sabbath, June 23; he also gave the name of his successor in the person of Mr. Hodgins, Pleasant Forks, who will preach his first sermon at this appointment on Sunday, July 12. Mr. Bennet also gave out about the laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist church, at Konlis, on Tuesday, July 9. Second, Mr. Barnsley is not sick as stated, but is enjoying the best of health and able to take part in that great and rough game, football.

Retaliation.

"May I offer you a stick of gum?" asked the travelling man in the skull cap, by way of introducing himself to the passenger in the seat in front of him.

The other man turned around, looked at the proffered slab, and shook his head.

"I beg your pardon," he said; "I manufacture that gum. I never chew it. But if you will join me, I will open this box of candy I bought just before I got on the train."

The travelling man looked at the label on the box and shuddered.

"We make that candy," he remarked, shrugging his shoulders, "I never touch it."

Subsequently they became better acquainted over a small bottle, of whose contents they possessed none of the secrets of manufacture.—Chicago Tribune.
